Dear North Parents,

I hope this communication finds you in good health! It seems just about everyone has been affected by this upper respiratory bug. Our poorest day of attendance occurred this week with almost 50 of our students out ill. We hope we have seen the worst.

Thursday we completed the National Youth Survey-we are told we will receive results in late Spring-the survey was for 6th grade.

We are almost at mid term already (February 8th) and don't forget the 14th is a half day of school for students and the 25th in teachers institute, no school for students. Then on Monday, February 18th, there's no school for President's Day.

This weekend Baldwin will host the IGSMA pre-contest-good luck to all the contestants!

Have a restful weekend-hopefully we will all be 100% next week!

*Mr. Paul Saunders
Baldwin North Principal*

Please remind your students that with this time of year our weather can change drastically in just a few hours. We need to really encourage students to dress in layers so that they are prepared if the weather turns cold and they can remove layers if it warms up throughout the day. We have seen several students at school lately without coats and appropriate winter clothing.
