Chief of Business Operations Ryan Whicker summarized the proposed $97 million balanced budget, which includes a 3% salary increase for non-certified staff, adjustments to TRS contributions for certified staff, and a 5% increase in health insurance costs. Revenues reflect a $2.1 million increase from local property taxes due to an 8.7% rise in assessed valuation, as well as a $580,000 increase in state evidence-based funding, though federal revenues decreased by $14.6 million with the expiration of ESSER grants. Major expenditures include salary and benefit increases, higher utility and insurance costs, and a $4.6 million reduction in capital outlay following completion of the Central Services building. Strategic use of COVID funds helped bolster reserves, positioning the district to maintain a balanced budget despite funding shifts.
